Item 8.01 Other Events.

On September 27, 2007, the United States Bankruptcy Court for the District of Hawaii entered a pre-trial ruling in connection with a motion for sanctions against Mesa Air Group, Inc. (the “Company”) in a lawsuit brought by Hawaiian Airlines against the Company. The lawsuit stems from the Company’s alleged misuse of Hawaiian Airlines confidential information by the Company’s Chief Financial Officer, George “Peter” Murnane III in connection with the Company’s launch of its own Hawaiian carrier, go!. According to the motion for sanctions, Hawaiian alleged that Mr. Murnane destroyed or “spoiled” certain evidence relating to whether the Company received confidential information from Hawaiian. As previously disclosed, the Company has placed Mr. Murnane on administrative leave while it investigates the allegations.

Pursuant to the Court’s oral ruling, which will be followed by a written ruling, the Court drew a negative inference from the actions of Mr. Murnane to arrive at three findings: (i) Mesa kept whatever “confidential information” it received from Hawaiian and didn’t return or destroy it as the confidentiality agreement with Hawaiian required, (ii) to the extent it received confidential information from Hawaiian, Mesa is deemed to have misused such information when deciding whether to enter into the Hawaiian market, and (iii) the misuse of any such confidential information was a substantial factor in Mesa’s decision to enter the market.

The Court specifically found that no other employee of the Company was engaged in any alleged misconduct relating to the litigation.

The Court stated that it would still consider whether and to what extent the information that Hawaiian gave to Mesa was actually Evaluation Material as defined in confidentiality agreement or whether that information was, as the Company maintains, generally available to the public. Finally, the Court stated that it was not prepared to make any rulings as to a monetary sanction against the Company. Any monetary sanction is likely to include an award of Hawaiian’s attorney and experts fees.

The trial relating to the lawsuit is scheduled to begin this week. Given the nature of the sanctions ruling and that a more detailed written ruling is to follow, while the underlying litigation will continue to move forward, it is impossible to predict what effect, if any, this ruling will have on the outcome of the case as a whole.
